WASHINGTON, April 1.—Here, the heart of the nation is beating as well as can be expected. It is raining, a long slow all-day rain that reminds you of a business depression.

Taxicab drivers welcome the rain, which helps business. Their charge has been cut down to twenty cents a ride, "almost anywhere in Washington," says a colored driver, adding that taxicab employment has doubled the number of taxi drivers because "anybody can drive a taxi." Then he laughs heartily. A white man with a sour look reminding you of Lenin and Karl Marx rolled into one.

President Hoover, working late as usual, when the writer called at the White House yesterday afternoon, was about to prepare a statement that will be pleasing to the automobile industry.

The President believes that buying a new automobile is an excellent way to help employment in one of the greatest industries, and, at the same time, contribute to general cheerfulness. Now that all the new models are ready and on view, select your 1932 car.

To possess, drive and exhibit a new automobile, glittering in the glory of chromium plating is to prove that you are not hoarding your money, and that you are contributing practically to the problem of employment.

If all goes well, representatives expect to raise one billion dollars, with this bill. There are some "ifs" and several "buts" in the program.

Mr. Alvin McAuley, head of the Packard company, is here to say that the proposed automobile bill will wreck the industry.

Common sense is here to tell the "snack the rich" brigade that the tax that would levy away three-quarters of the big incomes will not yield the desired golden main.

The best news in town has to do with ocean flying. Private enterprise and capital proposals to build a line of superliners, bigger than the Akron, to carry passengers across the Atlantic and Pacific. Nothing is asked of the government but a chance to carry the mails such as other craft enjoy. That the bill introduced by Congressman Cresser of Ohio will pass, there is no doubt.

Speed is everything in modern commerce. Germany already has a huge Zeppelin running from Berlin to Buenos Aires in four days, as against 16 days by surface ship.

The American dirigibles will cross the Atlantic in under half-day, making the round trip once a week with time for overhauling.

The establishment of this line, across both oceans will be invaluable in sending samples, salesmen, and mail. It is that it will take three years to get the first dirigible ready. Germany is already building a ship bigger than the Akron, but America's dirigible of helium gas will give us also a monopoly of safe dirigible travel. If we care to have it. More about this important news later.

It is a pleasure to state positively, that general business and financial news is better. Under the heading of "small blessings thankfully received" comes the news that in March bank closings fell to a low ebb, less than made up for by the opening of banks bigger than those that closed.

On the other hand, no Canadian bank has a better bank plan or better bankers than we have.

Two politically friendless men with criminal records are being given full credit for the easy escape of "Red Willie" Gray, gunman and jail-breaker, and his burglar mate from county jail.

The public is far from convinced, on information given out to date, that these two men, working entirely from the outside, could plan and carry out without other help what Sheriff Keliher is quoted as calling a "rapidly planned and extremely well executed" job that revealed his jail as leaky as a professional politician's campaign promise.

OWEN OF BRUINS STATE TO PROBE GRAY'S ESCAPE

George Owen, one of Harvard's greatest athletes and the pride and joy of the Boston Bruins, went under the knife for an appendicitis operation at the Milton Hospital today.

The Bruins star was taken ill suddenly and rushed from his home in Milton to the hospital, where Dr. George Cutler of Boston performed the operation.

For the past few days Owen had been feeling indisposed, but had no idea what the nature of his illness was.

This morning at 5 o'clock Owen called Dr. Cutler and after an examination ordered the Bruins star to the hospital. The operation was reported successful.

$100,000 in Drugs Seized, 8 Arrested

New York, April 1 (AP)—Federal agents seized three trunks containing narcotics valued at $100,000 and arrested eight suspects in various hotels.

The trunks, they said, were taken from a house in East 108th street.

Eight persons were arrested today to quell a riot which grew out of the slaying of a Pathan leader's chauffeur by Mohammedan dock strikers who resembled employment of Pathan workers on the docks.

Free State Army Men Oppose Giving Pensions to Those Who Fought Against Them

By LINTON WELLS

Dublin, April 1 (INS)— Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Free State Executive Council, encountered new difficulties with opposing political faction today.

With his cabinet already split over abolition of the oath of allegiance and subject to harsh criticism by extremists, De Valera was unexpectedly threatened with loss of support of the Irish Free State army.

The trouble was precipitated by a new army pension bill under which all soldiers disabled in active service would be paid by the government. As this would include members of the Irish Republican army who supported De Valera during the civil war, it aroused the ire of the regular army.

ARMY MEN INDIGNANT
Indignation in the regular army over the pension bill was so great that a motion picture of the bill measure was summed up by one member of the Free State army as follows:

"If De Valera thinks he can take money from the pockets of our comrades and give it to the B. & C. crowd—well, just let him try it."

The pension bill, formally announced by the Free State government, is scheduled for submission to the Dail Eireann as soon as parliament reconvenes. It would provide the existing army pension and grant new ones.

In a statement outlining the plan, De Valera said the government intends to pay pensions only to those disabled in actual service, irrespective of the side they took.

TROOPS SMART
DEMAND TROOP
ACTION AGAINST JAPS

By DIXON HOSTE

Shanghai, April 1 (INS)—A demand for summary action by Chinese troops against the Japanese troops in the Shanghai region was voiced today by public bodies.

Angered over the half-splintering at the peace conference which has prevented withdrawal of Japanese troops, many public organizations issued a circular telegram denouncing the peace negotiations and demanding that all restrictions be removed immediately from Chinese troops.

The telegram was indicative of the growing popular agitation against the long drawn out peace negotiations.

Meanwhile, Japanese military bodies in the Japanese zone of Shanghai troops had attacked the neighborhood of Taichang.

The recent fighting in that region, a Japanese communiqué said, was between rival Chinese forces. In which the Japanese had no hand.

Japanese authorities here today officially estimated that 56 Japanese had been killed in the fighting in Shanghai between January 1 and March 31. The estimate was based on reports from 15 Japanese citizens who were killed.

Eight other Japanese are missing.

America's bituminous coal belt was a land of idleness today.
Approximately 75,000 members of the United Mine Workers were without work, and there was no indication of when operations will resume.

In Illinois, failure of miners and operators to agree on a new wage contract after four weeks of conferences, added between 43,000 and 46,000 diggers to the jobless lists.

Four thousand more were thrown out of work in a similar action in Indiana's deep shaft mines.

In Illinois and Indiana, the shutdown was neither a strike nor a lockout. There was no agreement to continue operations.

STRIKE AT MIDNIGHT
In Ohio, the Ohio Valley Virginia pneumonia, a strike called by district officials of the United Mine Workers, went into effect at midnight following the failure of negotiations between the miners and the mine owners.

In Illinois, some 25,000 more miners were thrown out of work than in the previous week. The miners' union is now on a strike at work in all of the fields except at work only part time.

TO PICKET MINES
No trouble was expected in any of the fields. The only demonstration planned was in Indiana, O. planned by the Indiana Miners union. No word was received from mine union leaders in Indiana or Illinois.

China to Honor U. S.

Shanghai, April 1 (AP)—Mrs.

When she arrives from the United States, Mrs. Short will be an

The Chinese government plans to award Mrs. Short the honorary went home.

"Well, if you're game enough to take a pin, even though you don't know anything about me or what I'm mixed up in, it's O. K.
with me."

After a lot of preparation we finally got ready to go. I was going to a New Hampshire farm in Greenfield. He seldom used effective words when he finally was seated in the front of the car.

He said, "Rose, you're a darling."

FIVE HOUR JOURNEY
It was weak and the ride was slow and tedious. The roads were bad and covered with snow. It took us more than five hours to make the trip which the police made on our return home in a little more than an hour.

His wounds bled continually but he never complained. After he arrived at the farmhouse, the conditions were a whole lot better.
He said he had been in the house a long time in the 48 hours that he had been there.

The only bad feature of the conditions at the farm was the water.
It was so bad that it was necessary for me to melt the snow from the roof of the house in order to wash Eddie's wounds.

FRIENDS ARRIVE
Several times during the day I insisted that he allow me to call him by his first name. He was at once, he would have a chance to live. He kept insisting that I move him out of the room where he was lying. He said he was tired and wanted to go to bed.

He refused to allow me to give him any more attention after I had his head seemed to come back very suddenly. He remained very quiet.

'INFANT MURDER' SCORED, FINED

Characterizing him as "an unfit person to drive a car," Judge Attorney P. Stone, in the Municipal Court today, fined Albert M. Berman, 35 of Kingsdale st., Northeast, the maximum of $200 for dangerous driving and $25 each for driving without license or registration in his possession.

Berman, alleged to have been driving at a high rate of speed, child-ed with a truck on March 17 at Memorial drive and First Chamber, near the West Boston bridge.

After viewing Berman's record, including two occasions when he was charged with dangerous driving, Judge Stone said:

"I will use if I can't curtail his powers on the highways. This case merits an immediate license revocation as an unfit person to drive a car."

Berman was ordered the probation officer to notify the motor vehicle registrar of the case and then held Berman in $500 when he appeared the fines.

from home, the body of Mrs. Mary E. Jenkins, 60, wife of William L.
Jenkins, an eye specialist, was found today floating out from Mingion Beach, off Hospital Point.

The woman, who had been in ill health for a number of months, was pronounced a suicide by Medical Examiner Ralph E. Stone.

William Jenkins, who was severely disabled, was working on the beach, saw the body and notified the police.

man sentenced for Christian Willard, 47, of 19 Bedford st., Boston, for manufacturing and selling counter-months suspended sentence and probation on two counts as murderer, San Galle and others in the hospital section after Gray were supposedly sent when he made a break for liberty and it believed his sawing activities may have killed them to sleep.

Commonwealth State who was in Bridgewater today, said the time was soon coming when all jail would have bars of laminated steel which can be sawed. One building at the Norfolk prison camp has been fitted with them, he said.

"Gray is a tough customer," Dr. Stearns said, "Those who ought to reform him and make him his way, couldn't make any impression on him."

Whether "Impresson," the young "trust" who was eligible for parole in July, will receive an additional sentence as a result of his five months of liberty has not been decided. His right of parole has been revoked and he must serve 25 months more of his sentence for parole.

Gray couldn't be punished spectacularly for the escape, because he was not under sentence; he is still awaiting trial on robbery and assault with intent to kill charges.

Samuel Linder, alias Linden, and William Weyand, alleged to have given outside aid in the escape, face long terms. Linden has been returned to prison for violation of his parole and Weyand is awaiting trial for robbery and aiding an escape.

AMOSKEAG PAY CUT REJECTED BY WORKERS

Manchester, P. H. April 1.—Workers of the Amoskeag Corporation will continue to toil indefinitely under the wage scale which expired today, as a result of their more than 10-to-1 vote yesterday against wage slashes proposed by the management.

With more than 600 of the Amoskeag workers casting ballots on the question of accepting the proposed wage cuts the vote resulted as follows:

Yes—533.

No—201.

Following announcement of the result, Henry E. Rauch, acting agent of the mill, declared that the proposed reduced scale had been withdrawn and the operatives would continue indefinitely under the scale which expired today and which the lowered scale was designed to supplant.

The mill agent said he did not know what action the management would take, if any, as the result of yesterday's secret balloting by the workers.

In continuing under the wage scale agreement which was to expire today, the Amoskeag operatives are working under a 10 per cent wage reduction made six months ago. Under that agreement the 10 per cent cut was to run for six months, expiring today.

The scale rejected by the workers' ballots yesterday would have made further slashes in some cases as high as 40 per cent, out with the majority of the reductions set at about 20 per cent.

'OWN SURGEON' DIES AT 72

DR. KANE, FAMED FOR OPERATION ON SELF, DIES

Kane, Pa., April 1 (INS)—Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, 72, famous surgeon, who twice operated on himself by the use of local anesthetic, died in Summit Hospital here today of pneumonia.

Dr. Kane, father of Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, who was acquitted recently following a murder trial in Virginia in connection with the drowning of his wife, operated on himself in 1919 for appendicitis.

A few months ago, the surgeon again subjected himself to a local anesthetic and successfully performed an operation for hernia.

Dr. Kane's father, Maj.-Gen. Thomas L. Kane, was one of the founders of the town of Kane, which was named for him. Gen. Kane organized the 8th Cavalry Regiment, famed for its record in the war between the states.

Dr. Kane was married twice. His first wife, Blanche Ruppert, died in 1903 and, some years later, he married her sister, Lila. She died in 1928.

One son, Elisha Kent Kane, was born to the first union and five sons to the second.

Employers Spurn Pay Cut Offer

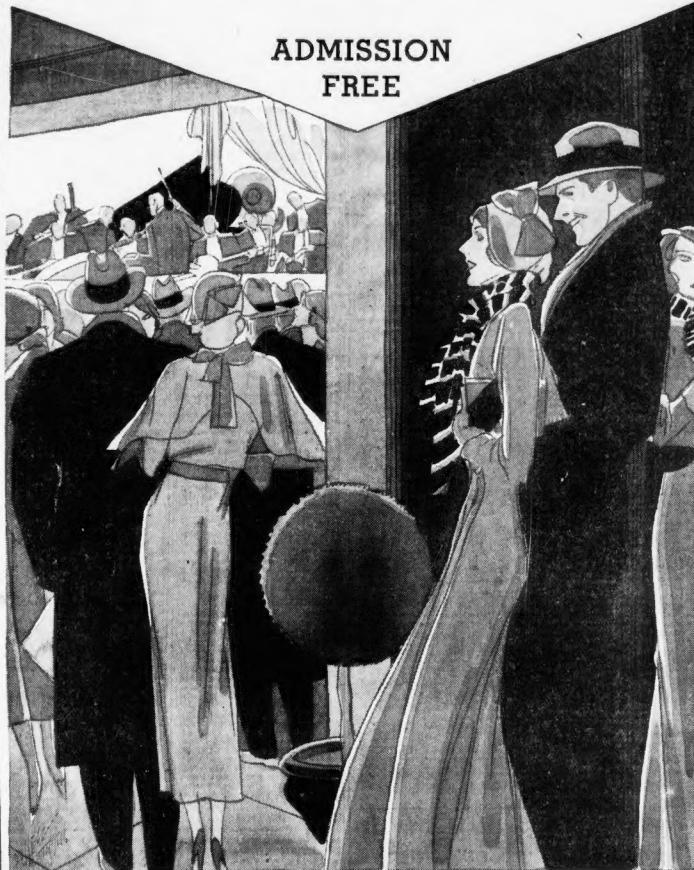

The proposal made by officers of Painters District Council 41 that its members would take a voluntary cut in wages of 15 per cent, which would reduce their wages from $13.75 cents an hour to $11.75, has been turned down by the Painting Employers' Association.

Dr. Evan O'Neill Kane, who startled the medical world in 1919 by removing his own appendix and a few months ago performed a second operation on himself for hernia, died today of pneumonia in a hospital at Kane, Pa.

CURRY SEES POWER TEST IN FIGHT

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY
Amplifying his statement made at the public forum, 333 Washington st., that his father would "soilily" behind the former service men in their efforts to obtain what the government owes them," James Roosevelt, son of the New York governor, today declared he was contrasting the record established in New York with that of the administration in Washington.

In using the word "government," he said, he meant state government. He referred especially, he said, to the recommendation of Governor Roosevelt that veterans who had refused the state bonus, during the epidemic times, be permitted to receive what was due them.

NOSE RALLIES
The younger Roosevelt, 31th Mayor Curry, will address rallies tonight at the Waltham and Roxbury. Edward Southworth school, Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, and the Cleveland school, Fields Corner.

Other speakers will be former City Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, former Mayor J. Walsh of Chelsea, School Committee member Maurice J. Tobin, City Councilor Edward England, Francis X. Dineen, A. Nicholas Petroselli, Governor, Councilor James H. Brennan, Dr. Charles E. Mackey, Dr. Joseph Santomaso, Edward G. Morris and Joseph H. Hanks. In speeches in Dorchester, Mattapan and Hyde Park, the latter place the home of Chairman Frank J. Donahue of the state committee, Mayor Curry declared that the water power trust, whose enemy Governor Roosevelt serves as a consequence of his many fights in behalf of the people, was unable to control the convention delegates either in New Hampshire or Maine.

PREDICTS VICTORY
"At the present time," he said, "but one state do we find what favors of a real contest between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith, and since New Hampshire and Maine are the states the coming primary is rapidly coming to be of interest to the Democracy, which look forward on April 26 to the same character of victory in behalf of Franklin D. Roosevelt that has been accorded him in the other two New England states."

"It is now worthy of note that 120 delegates pledged to Roosevelt have been elected and that not one delegate has been elected pledged to Alfred E. Smith. These delegates represent a complete cross-section of the entire country extending from the territory of Alaska in the far northwest, to Georgia in the extreme Atlantic south, and to Maine upon the northeast."

The mayor declared that the "most astounding" feature connected with the Roosevelt movement is the way that the agricultural sections are supporting his candidacy.

"Every student of politics recognizes," he said, "that permanent prosperity, nationally, is dependent in large measure upon the prosperity of the agriculturalists, and that there is little hope in this direction from the piece-meal program and policies which have been put into operation by President Hoover."

"Today's rally will be the last one at the present forum quarters at 333 Washington st. On Monday, and thereafter, the rally will be conducted in the new Tompkins building on Court st., opposite the City Hall annex."

GARNER GAINS, MCADOO SAYS
Los Angeles, April 3.—W. G. McAdoo, former treasury secretary, returned from the East with the assertion that John Garner, Speaker of the House, "is growing stronger all the time," as a Democratic presidential possibility.

Everywhere he went, McAdoo said, he found a much keener interest in politics than was evident on his visit to New York last fall.

"The fact that Garner is both a Western and Southern man, and that he knows the problems of agriculture as well as of government finance and administration," said Mr. McAdoo, "commends him strongly to the people."

WOMAN SPLITS DEMOCRATS IN MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, April 3 (AP)—A gray-haired, middle-aged woman today said "no" and with that vanished hope of resuming Minnesota Democratic before the party's national convention at Chicago in June.

Her decision made certain that two full states of delegate will compete for seats, and, knocking at the convention door at the head of one state seeking admission, will be the woman, Mrs. Ruth Mayne Carpenter.

RUMP CONVENTION
When the state convention was held early in March and delegates instructed to support Gov. Roosevelt were chosen, Mrs. Carpenter started a bolt of delegates.

She accused "regular" delegates of having packed the convention by secretly increasing the membership of the State Central Committee from less than 100 to 200, selecting only Roosevelt supporters, and giving each a vote in the convention.

In 20 minutes she organized a rump convention which selected another slate of delegates without instructions, although Mrs. Carpenter and most of her associates are potential supporters of former Gov. Smith.

Gov. Ely Guest at Watertown Town Hall Dedication

Governor Ely, Secretary of State Frederic Cook and Lieutenant Col. Charles M. Abbott will be guests of Watertown tomorrow afternoon at the formal dedication of the new town hall.

Governor Ely will extend greetings from the Commonwealth to the town and Lieutenant Col. Abbott will officiate at the dedication of an honor roll of Watertown men and women who served in the World War.

The building will be formally turned over to the board of school chairman of the building committee by Edward P. Farber, treasurer.

It is almost daily, Mrs. Carpenter stated, that she has been asked to read many meetings both comforting and otherwise.

CURRY PUZZLE IN RANKS OF DEMOCRATS

By JOUIS REIBOLD
Washington, April 3 (UPI)—The most interesting (and puzzling) figure in the Democratic presidential picture today is John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall.

Supporters of various presidential candidates have been trying to solve the Curry riddle. None of them have succeeded. Curry's cryptic declaration "New York does not intend to buy anything" has puzzled the press.

The Tammany leader, who was a welcome visitor and much courted person, further increased interest and anxiety yesterday. In reply to specific questions regarding his estimate of personal qualifications, he made the same reply. It was:

"The Democratic party has an abundant supply of very good men from whom to select the presidential candidate who will win the next election."

Leaders who followed the line from the right at his quarters in the Mayflower Hotel, had no cause to complain of their treatment.

Curry met each and every one with a smile and returned a frank and candid reply to men

Dog Outstrips Hero to Save 'Gal' Menaced by Villain in Play

Canyon City, British Columbia, April 3 (AP)—All was tense at the Opera House with the dramatic club near the end of "When Blood Runs Cold, or Macmahill's Revenge."

Frances Knox was being choked to death by the villain. The hero was due almost any minute and he would punch the villain and say, "Uchhand that you swine!" and everyone would cheer.

The choking was getting along very well, but it was too much for Shup, Miss Knox's pet collie. The dog dashed on the stage and he was giving the villain a good snarling as the hero appeared.

who would like to see Governor Everett or Speaker Garner or Al Smith or Newton D. Baker or former Governor Byrd or Senator Hull or Governor Murray or Senator Lewis or former Senator Reed named for the presidency.

ALL GOOD MEN
His sole rejoinder, to each interjection of this sort was: "He is a good man." That was all.

It is significant that every leader, committed to the support of each contender, came away from his interview with the Tammany leader convinced that the latter and his advisers in the New York Democratic organization have not reached any decision as to the course it will pursue in the coming election.

wife of the chief of the three negotiators here, left Norfolk immediately after the Vespers. Duke, rector of Christ's Episcopal Church and the third of the trio, returned from a conference with Col. Lindbergh Tuesday afternoon.

He said she left here about 6 p. m. and was staying with friends. He did not name the friends indicated, and to questions asking whether her departure had any connection with the efforts of her husband and his associates to recover the stolen Lindbergh baby, he said:

"Mrs. Curtis left here about 6 p. m. Tuesday to attend to her personal affairs."

To a question asking whether Col. Lindbergh at first believed in the Norfolk clue to the kidnapping and has now changed his mind, the admiral replied that Col. Lindbergh's last message to the Norfolk trio was to "continue."

Report Schoeffel Sails With Ransom Note

Trenton, N. J., April 1 (INS)—Mel Charles A. Schoeffel, of the New Jersey State police, has sailed for Europe on a "lead" in connection with the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby a month ago to night. It was officially admitted today.

Schoeffel played a leading role in the investigation immediately after the baby was abducted.

Admission that Mel Schoeffel had departed was made by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey State Police.

Col. Schwarzkopf declined to disclose Schoeffel's destination or give any idea of the nature of the clue he was running down.

Lindy Baby 'Clue' Fails in Potsdam

Potsdam, Germany, April 1 (AP)—This city was excited for awhile today by what it thought was the discovery of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby.

An American student riding in a bus visited a club, entertained younger in the arms of a woman passenger and called a policeman.

He took her to the station house followed by an excited crowd but she established her identity as the child's mother.

has been detained for questioning in connection with the case, said at one time under the British flag.

REPORTS SENT BACK Results of the Scotland Yard inquiry were never made public but it is understood they sent back to America voluminous reports.

They are said to have sent a full report on Mrs. and Mr. Wheatley and it has been reported that information showed nothing of an irregular nature insofar as the latter or his wife were concerned.

The antecedents of Betty Gow were checked up by Scotland Yard. Dispatches indicated that Scotland Yard had given her a clean record.

Denying the police investigation of the kidnapping has switched to Philadelphia and making no mention whatever of developments at Norfolk, Va., Colonel H. Schwarzkopf declared in his official statement to the press today the search for Harry Plimpton, reputed leader of the "Purple Gang" of Detroit is continuing "particularly in the vicinity where he was last seen."

Schwarzkopf also said the police are tracing certain automobiles. He took occasion to issue warning against persons using the Lindbergh case to "mislead and mislead" the authorities but at the same time made it plain each warning does not apply to those who conscientiously believe they have information of value to impart.

"XUSE" TO HELP

Special interest in the Philadelphia situation was manifested by federal and state police in charge of the nation-wide search, and Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh in their home at Hopewell.

They saw in the story of a detective evidence that they may be at last on the right track for the abductor. This detective called at the Lindbergh home and gave a lead which caused police to assign men to watch a house on the outskirts of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Walter C. Hancock, the Quaker City matron thrust into the spotlight in the abduction case today, reported she received a telephone call from a nurse unknown to her.

She was asked if she knew any friends of the Lindberghs. When Mrs. Hancock answered negatively, the inquirer arranged to call on her, "to help restore the baby."

Alarmed and mystified by the unusual situation, Mrs. Hancock called police and a detective was alerted in an adjoining room when her unidentified woman visitor appeared.

THE NURSE, so far as could be learned, told Mrs. Hancock a nurse she knew seemed strangely uninterested and apologetic on the evening of the kidnapping when he reached home.

and his wife later received visitors of food that constituted the diet for the baby which Mrs. Lindbergh broadcast in one of the appeals.

Theories of Readers

Almost everybody, apparently, has a definite theory in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping mystery.

What is yours?

The Lindbergh Case Editor prints today some more excerpts from the hundreds of letters received from readers of the Boston Evening American.

MEXICAN PLOT

"My belief is that revenge was the motive, but not against Col. Lindbergh. I should say the plot was hatched in Mexico, carried out, possibly, with the aid of gangsters in this country. It also seems that there must have been inside assistance. The fact that the baby was taken from his crib without a loud outcry makes very suspicious."—Mrs. H. M. J., Boston.

SOCIALIST

"My theory is that a Socialist who disliked Mrs. Lindbergh and the Mercers did it."—G. F. H., Pease St., Fall River.

AMATEURS

"My theory is that someone kidnapped the baby for ransom, intending to return it, but being amateurs, and reading all the threats in the newspapers, don't dare bring it back. I don't think it's in any danger. I think if Mrs. Lindbergh made an appeal personally over the radio, it would be the means of restoring her child to her."—William G. Marsh, 33 Linden ave., Malden.

SERVANT

"A servant played an important part in the crime. Everything was so convenient that night—window unlatched, dog alone for three hours. I think they are waiting time and money the way police are beating about the bush. I know if I were Mrs. Lindbergh I'd grill these servants myself."—Mrs. Beatrice Foster, Jullie, Conn.

THREAT

"I think a servant was threatened if she did not help the kidnappers by keeping the radio in the kitchen. Ransom was the motive."—C. S. Barnes, 247 Gold St., South Boston.

NO STRANGER

"The kidnaper was no stranger to the Lindbergh household. Mr. Ransom was the motive. Apparently the kidnappers, through fear, have decided that no one shall ever find the baby."—A. A. Merritt, Massachusetts ave., Boston.

TRY CAPONE

"It surely was planned with someone on the inside. The kidnappers knew the time. Why? Because they either got a telephone call or a signal. Why not risk letting Capone out for a week? I bet the baby would be returned."—Belmont Reader.

KIDNAPERS GET $100,000 GEMS

Cleveland, April 1 (AP)—Jews were shown a videotape of $100,000 worth stolen last night by two rabbis who kidnapped Christian leaders, proprietors of a store and forced them to open the safe.

Sandus was surprised as he stepped from a street car in Erie, Pa., where one of the rabbis called him by name and said:

"This is a stickup. Don't make a sound and do as you are told."

The other rabbi, who was in an auto. They let Sandus enter it and drove around for half an hour before they began to tell him what to do and how to get out of the car without a safe as ransom. The ransom was $100,000 in cash or diamonds; if neither was paid up, their victims would be strangled and buried alive, until all had died.

CHEVROLET REDUCES PRICES

AND ISSUES AN IMPORTANT STATEMENT OF POLICY FOR 1932

The leader always leads in giving value. Chevrolet—world's largest builder of cars for three out of the past five years—now takes pleasure in announcing substantial price reductions on the new Chevrolet Six.

These reductions are being announced on the eve of the national exhibits of General Motors products which, opening tomorrow in the leading cities of the country, will feature special displays of various Chevrolet models.

The revised scale of Chevrolet prices now starts with a base price of $445, f.o.b. Flint, Michigan. This is the lowest figure at which a Chevrolet passenger car has ever sold.

QUALITY WILL BE MAINTAINED

The new Chevrolet Six is the same well known product that was introduced to the public only a short time ago—and immediately won such a wide following. It offers you the built-in smoothness, quietness and flexibility that can only be achieved along with maximum economy in a six-cylinder engine. It offers that matchless driving combination—silent, non-clash synchro-mesh gear-shifting combined with free wheeling. It offers big, spacious Fisher bodies—styled gracefully long and low—and built of wood and steel—the same construction used on practically all high-priced cars today. It offers the same modern spring construction used in costly cars—four long, semi-elliptic springs, mounted parallel to the frame, and equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers. In addition, the new Chevrolet Six possesses the same basic design and construction that millions of Chevrolet owners have proved in billions of miles of service. Its dependability, durability and economy are known quantities.

THE SIX WILL BE CONTINUED

In making this announcement of new lower prices—Chevrolet issues an important statement of policy:

Chevrolet will keep on building a Six. Our recently announced Six has met with such widespread approval that it is our intention to continue with a six-cylinder engine.

Chevrolet pioneered the Six in the field of low priced automobiles, and today Chevrolet is more than ever convinced that a six cylinder engine is the ideal type for a car of lowest price. The Six is the one type of engine that strikes a perfect balance of smooth performance and maximum economy.

With anything less than a Six, motoring enjoyment is sacrificed. For it is a well known engineering fact that six cylinders are the fewest that can be used in a car and avoid inherent vibration. Anything more than six cylinders and Chevrolet's unexcelled economy would be sacrificed. Chevrolet has proved that a six cylinder motor can be engineered to operate at lower cost than any other type. And Chevrolet is committed to the policy of providing the utmost in motoring enjoyment that can be secured along with economy of operation.

Before deciding on any new low priced automobile—read over Chevrolet's new reduced prices, and compare them with the prices of any other cars in Chevrolet's field. Compare what you get for every dollar that you pay. Then, you cannot fail to recognize the significant fact that the Chevrolet Six is now, more than ever, the great American value.

DYNAMITERS ATTACK MINES

Presidents, Ky., April 1 (AP)—Dynamite miners attacked the mine power plant today in coal mines, leaving the town in darkness. The explosion added to the thousands of dynamite miners wrought in lawlessness through the troubles in Webster and adjoining counties since the strike of 1921.

The dynamite was attributed by officials to renewal of the labor troubles resulting from a strike of union coal miners in Illinois. The fight, operating on an operating basis, is a competitor of the Illinois field.

Headquarters for TOPCOATS $25

There may be many reasons why you ought to pay more than $25 for your topcoat this spring... but we can actually see more reasons why you needn't. Even Kuppenheimer models, styled and hand-crafted in the finest way are available for $25 now. Not forgetting the sensational Kendowne Polo Coat that bids fair to blanket New England. Nor Knit-tex Topcoats, the largest selling in America, now $25. If you expect to pay less and get more this spring, come to Kennedy's, whose policy links right up with that idea: "Charge less - give more." It's an old Kennedy custom.

THIS IS LIFE

APRIL FOOL'S DAY FINDS WORLD INDULGING IN VARIETY OF FOLLIES

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

IT WAS A NICE CONCEIT that made Messrs Simon & Schuster fix April Fool's Day as the publication date of Walter B. Pitkin's new and fascinating volume entitled "A Short Introduction to the History of Human Stupidity."

And the title of the book is in itself a nice piece of rather savage fooling, for at the end of some 500 closely packed pages, Dr. Pitkin adds a colophon "We are now ready to begin the history of human stupidity"—and ends.

Later, almost certainly, I shall have something to say about the book, for I find it one of the most fascinating I have read and one of the most thought-provoking. I have read barely half of it, and already I feel like 88 kinds of a fool. Like Jerome K. Jerome in "Three Men in a Boat," who read a medical anatomy and became convinced that he had every disease mentioned except housemaid's knee, so I am astonished that I am able to get about and earn a living under the heavy weight of all the stupidities which I inherit in common with the rest of the human race, plus my own particular kind, such as the space-time stupidity which Dr. Pitkin emphasizes as being so important, the inability to deal with numbers and situations involving numbers.

Capacity for Folly Grows With Times

After the four column review of this book published in last Sunday's Advertiser, there is no particular need of giving a resume of its contents, so I shall wait until I have finished it, before picking out certain aspects of the subject which fascinate and terrify me. It is a sad picture Dr. Pitkin draws of the human race, but his stories and illustrations are so many and so overwhelming that anyone accustomed to believe in the perfectibility of man is left rather at a loss for a reply.

And this is the day we celebrate, we fools who make up the so-called human race. There was a profound sense of actuality in the men of the middle ages who every year celebrated the Feast of Fools with mirth and pageantry, and crowned or mired a Pope of Fools or a Bishop of Fools, who for one day ruled the community. It was a neat and telling reminder of the pit from which we are all dugged.

And yet their capacity for folly could not have been any where near so great as ours. Their capacity for folly, perhaps, but not the scope of their folly. Their folly could not have been so disastrous as ours in this complex, closely integrated world of ours, where publicity is the normal condition of life and the results of any action are beyond computation.

In spite of the deterministic conception of history any sensible man must allow for a considerable amount of influence in the human will as it affects history. It may be all right to believe that men are merely the instruments of forces beyond their control, but that does not necessarily mean that he has no will of his own. It may have been true that a general European war would have resulted inevitably from the tangle of European interests in the years before 1914, but the fact remains that the act of a fool in Sarajevo did set off this one and that other fools did allow a localized conflict to spread until it became world-wide. Some war might have ensued, doubtless, but not this war—not without the specific follies of specific men.

Congress Exemplifies Group Folly

The psychologists who talk of the dominant power of instinct in man and who pretend to name all the instincts have never, so far as I know, named the specific instinct of folly. Perhaps Trotter's "Instinct of the Herd" includes folly, since most of us are more inclined to be foolish in groups than foolish individually. Whether folly be an instinct or not, it is undoubtedly contagious. One has only to look at the spread of the contagion in the Congress during the past week. What was it that made a sober legislative body run amuck with taxation proposals which have provoked almost universal condemnation? Is it not something of the same power that sets a theater full of sober people shrieking and scrambling for the exits at the cry of fire?

In one of H. G. Wells' lesser known stories he tells how the Wild Ases of the Devil escaped from Hell and assumed human form. Then at the stroke of midnight the harm broke, and in the House of Commons might be seen, in the place of reverent legislators, the Wild Ases kicking up their heels and baying at the Speaker. One thought of that episode as one read the newspapers last week.

There is the folly that defeats itself, the folly that thinks itself wondrous wise. We see everywhere the big moving picture theaters moving heaven and earth to put on programs which must draw the suspicious and disgruntled theater-goers inside their doors. Never, it seems to me, was there such ballyhoo as ushered in this week's programs. The theaters are obviously scared, so they would not be staging whole movie musicals with their films, showing pictures that show Hollywood making a picture plus the picture itself, and all that sort of thing.

Yet this week when our family was trying to find a moving picture to which a group of girls might be taken—children around 13 or 14—there was literally nothing in Greater Boston that we dared to try, for fear it would turn out to be a gangster film, or a horror film or a sophisticated sex film. In a period of depression and sadness, there are no comedies, nothing to make you spit your sides and forget your troubles—except, of course, the blessed and perennial Mickey Mouse. And he lasts only 10 or 12 minutes. There are no stories of ordinary people doing ordinary and happy things. There are only stories of murder and lust and horror and more lust.

And yet the movie magnates no doubt think themselves shrewd and sensible business men. Is there no relation between their employing theaters and the folly of their programs? Today, in 1932, we still celebrate, willy-nilly, the Feast of Fools.

Curley Awards Milk Contract

Milk and cream for the patients at Boston City Hospital and the Metropolitan Sanatorium will cost the city $264,623 during the next six months, under a contract awarded yesterday by Mayor Curley to the Turner Creamery.

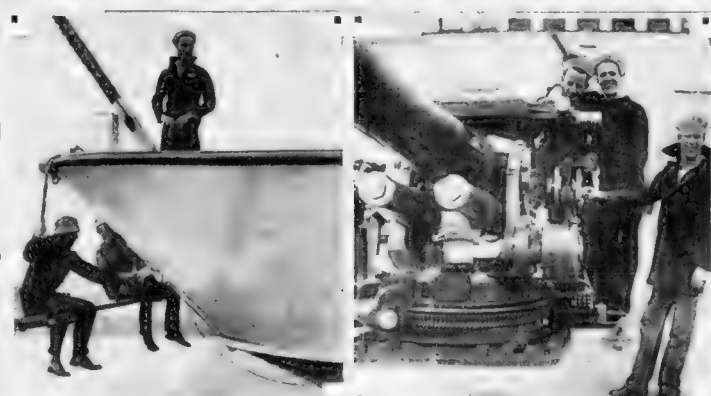

The mayor also approved a contract with the Tremont Oil Co. to furnish 1200 tons of road asphalt to the city at $13.17 a ton, bringing the total of the contract to $15,000.

SCHOOL GIRLS IN DANCE ROW

STUDENTS ONLY ALLOWED AT PARTIES

Weekly Socials at Swampscott High Threatened as "Outsiders" Are Barred

The weekly social, dance and tea at Swampscott high school is threatened with failure today because of the indignation aroused among the girls by new faculty regulations.

The new rulings allow only graduates of the high school a few junior high school students and a few outsiders, whose identity is known, to attend in addition to the students. Further, they demand that girls pay their own admission and refreshment charges.

BOYS JEALOUS
The conservative opinion among the girls is that jealous boys of the school influenced officials to ban outside boys.

Many girls expressed their indignation, but refused to be quoted for fear of the wrath of school officials. They claimed that they would go on "strike" and not attend the dance today.

PRINCIPAL ADAMANT
Principal Lee T. Gray contended that the rules had been adopted to protect the pupils. He expressed great surprise at the protest, but insisted there would be no changes.

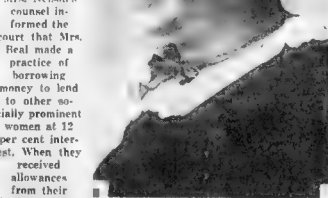

He pointed out the dangers for school pupils and officials wished to have complete control of the affair and be assured to know everyone present.

He said there was no objection to outside boys attending as long as their names were furnished to school officials in advance.

BORROWS, BUT WON'T PAY

Mrs. Lida M. Seal, society matron of Webster ph. Needham, who went to jail for contempt of court after she had failed to pay $572 of $1800 she had borrowed from Mrs. Lucina Nelson, 70, a lodgings-keeper of Appleton st. South End.

Mrs. Nelson's counsel informed the court that Mrs. Seal made a practice of borrowing money to lend to other socially prominent women at 12 per cent interest. When they received allowances from their husbands they repaid her.

SOCIETY WOMAN CALMLY BEGINS JAIL TERM

Mrs. Seal Shows No Emotion on the First Day of Sentence Over $9572 Loan

Her first full day in jail was spent today by Mrs. Lida M. Seal. Needham society matron in the same manner in which she took her sentence yesterday in Superior Court calmly and without a visible sign of emotion.

Mrs. Seal, whose daughter is a student at Tufts, had been ordered to pay $572 of $1800 she had borrowed from Mrs. Lucina Nelson, 70, a lodgings-keeper of Appleton st. South End, on the house owner.

At the jail today, Mrs. Seal refused to see newspapermen but was reported by officials to be remarkably cool and to be taking her incarceration philosophically.

Son Sought as Aged Father Nears Death
Police were asked to search for Joseph Tobias Clark 12, missing from his home at 4 Winter st., Everett, where his aged father is seriously ill.

The father, William M. Clark 72, is expected to pass away momentarily and physicians are pinning their hopes of his recovery on the return of his son. Clark was last heard from in New York.

MURDER OF THE NIGHT CLUB LADY

By ANTHONY ABBOTT

THATCHER COLT was deliberately filling his pipe. "Sheer guess-work, most of that. But follow the notion and see where it leads. I suppose that Christine had overheard this blood-thirsty temptation." She is terrified. She does not know whether to tell or not. She sends for her brother. She makes vague hints to Everett she comes home. She finds the latter here—and the accusation is out. In the argument that follows the killer denies everything. Christine's back is turned the killer approaches with a box of death bird high; the lid is opened and the scorpion springs upon the nearest victim. The death bite was in Christine's ear.

"But who did it? Who was the cock-and-duck assassin? Why, Christine and the case is closed. We must begin with Christine, because she was the first. Who killed Christine Quiver?"
Mr. Everett's face was ashen. He had not heard where his wife was. He had not heard where his wife was. He had not heard where his wife was. He had not heard where his wife was.

EVERETT RANTS
"It is not true," demanded "Do not think that this assassin could have got into the apartment, killed Christine and escaped scot-free, before my party ever reached here?"
"That is true," answered Thatcher Colt. "On the other hand, the same person could have remained to kill Lolla-til the hiding place were secure."

Mr. Everett's face turned red. He was not a man to be trifled with. "What's eating him?" rumbled. "Do not think that this assassin could have got into the apartment, killed Christine and escaped scot-free, before my party ever reached here?"

SUSPICIOUS OF WHY CAUSED HER DEATH

Also Files Protest Against Will of Late Ex-School Teacher on Grounds of Undue Influence

Suspicious of the cause of the death of his niece, a former Boston school teacher, and last of an old Boston family, Owen G. Evans of Cambridge today asked Dist. Atty. Frank G. Volpe of Middlesex County to exhume the body and investigate her death. Volpe is considering the demand.

The niece Miss Pauline Garvey of 119 Packer st. died in a hospital in the winter of 1930. She was the daughter of Charles A. Garvey, president of the old Franklin at Catholic Church society and leader in the old-time Boston wig making industry.

Her grandfather was Paul A. Garvey, who made a fortune in real estate on Providence st. more than a century ago. Miss Garvey died at the age of 37.

She was a graduate of Smith College, class of 1904. Boston Normal School a few years later and taught in the schools of Charlestown until she was retired because of a nervous breakdown.

A year before her death, she abandoned the Franklin st. house where she lived alone, and went to live with the Arlington friend, Mrs. Florence M. Barnes of 27 Wolcott ave., Arlington Heights.

PROTESTS WILL
Mrs. Barnes is proprietor of a downtown candy shop.

Evans filed protest in Suffolk Court against last will of Miss Garvey that disposed of about $20,000. One was allowed on March 21 in which he was left $2000.

He said two previous wills were destroyed by Miss Garvey at various times before her death.

In addition to Evans, the other beneficiaries named were Mrs. Barnes, Grace R. Hackett and Eliza Saunders, ten one-hundredths each of the rest and residue. Eliza

M. C. O. F. DRIVE
WATCH OUT FOR JOKER TODAY

The statewide membership campaign of Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters was given an enthusiastic start today when High Secretary-Treasurer Joseph J. Forster presented the first 200 petitions received at headquarters, 17 Worcester st., to High Chief Ranger Joseph A. Cahalan.

This early influx of applications, Mr. Cahalan said, augurs well for the success of our drive. In times like these men and women realize more than ever the value of membership in fraternal organizations and the Catholic Order of Foresters. I feel confident we will reach our objective, 8000 new members, due to the intense interest developed by our officials in the preliminary stages of the campaign.

Starting tonight special meetings at 7 o'clock will be arranged by courts to maintain interest in the drive which will continue a month.

Flying squadrons of speakers, including the high standing committee and district deputies, will tour the state.

Other phases of this program include purchase of more powerful locomotives, both steam and electric, purchase of roller-bearing equipped de luxe coaches for regular trains, third-tracking portions of main line, further extension of automatic signaling, strengthening of bridges, and modernization of freight terminals.

FISH TASTE HAS GONE FROM SPOT POND

State Engineers Say Two-Day Treatment With Copper Sulfate Has Purified Water

The fishy taste in the water of Spot Pond has been conquered. State engineers announced today.

From the office of Chief Engineer W. E. Fox of the Metropolitan district commission word came that the taste disappeared positively through the night as a result of the copper sulfate treatment of the pond last two days.

Impaired by adverse weather conditions the treatment of Spot Pond had to be postponed from day to day over a period of two weeks during which time the taste and smell became more obnoxious.

It became known today that one of the two big basins of the Chestnut Hill system is affected by the uremia and that this basin has been shut off temporarily and that all water on the low pressure system is being supplied from one of the basins.

A curious incident has been reported at the Metropolitan District Commission, where Mrs. C. H. Hanten Wright has made claim for $72 as a result of her pet goldfish dying from the "fishy" water coming out of Spot pond.

It seems that Mrs. Wright, who lives in Perkins st., Melrose Highlands, had a miniature aquarium in her home. There were 33 Japanese goldfish. Mrs. Wright intended to change the water daily. Suddenly, a few days ago, according to word received at the Metropolitan District Commission, she found them all dead.

LAWYER FACES FRAUD TRIAL

Meyer W. Kottlemann, an attorney living in Revere, was arraigned in Federal court today before Judge Lowell charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud an insurance company in an automobile accident case.

Kottlemann, who has offices in the Old South building, pleaded not guilty, and was held in $2000.

It is alleged he represented himself as counsel for his wife, Isabel Kottlemann, and later Day of Dorchester, without authority in two letters sent by him to Samuel D. C. of the Washington ave., Chelsea. The letters were in connection with an automobile accident in New Washington, Ct., November 10, 1931.

The government claims that neither of the women was the accident victim. This is the first case of its kind to come before the federal court and is the result of an investigation of fraudulent accident claims made by Frederick W. Mansfield, chairman of Gov. Ely's commission to investigate fraudulent claims.

FLAMES ROUT 25 FAMILIES IN REVERE

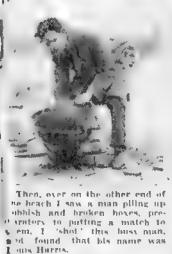

At Carson Beach

With the Candid Camera

Spring is in the air! And with it comes the urge for swimming. But do you folks realize what has to be done at our Boston beach? Glass has to be cleaned up, broken bottles washed up by the winter tides, have to be burned up, and all kinds of debris that finds its resting place on the sands, has to disappear before we can stroll the sands in safety and comfort. I was assigned yesterday to get the "clean-up" men.

Carson Beach, on the Strandway in South Boston, is a very popular. As I walked along the dirty beach, I met Jack Gordon with his bow and John Heath with his shovel, both riding the beach of hazards to swimmers.

Then, over on the other end of the beach I saw a man filling up a bucket and broken bottles, preparing to put a match in it. "I shot," the man said, "I found that his name was I. M. Harris."

JOBLESS MARCH ON MAY DAY

Announcement has been made from the Communist headquarters at 3 Harrison ave., of the plans for the march of the unemployed men and women of the Commonwealth on the State House on May 1. Albert Dancer, district secretary of the Longwood Council of Massachusetts, is one of the officials in charge of the march, which will be held at 10 o'clock and will start at the State House and go to the State House. He announced that marchers had been urged through the newspapers to bring along a sign reading "We are here" and to bring along a sign reading "We are here". FIREMEN SAVE ELKS' CLUB IN BLAZE

Embers From Burning Restaurant Set Many Fires; Milkman Discovers Flames

Twenty-five families were driven out of the Belvedere Apartments, Shirley ave., Revere, early today, when fire destroyed Gordon's restaurant, next door, and spread to the Elks' building across the street. Loss is estimated at $10,000.

Driven by the high wind, the flames spread to the side of the apartment house and burned under the eaves. A fire caused by flying embers from the restaurant, started in the Elks' building. The fire started in a rear room of the restaurant. It had caused considerable damage when some of the Elks' members discovered it. Firemen from the station, notified by a milkman, rushed through the apartment house to smother the occupants. The fire was on a restaurant at the rear of the building was closed out.

GUNS TAKEN BY SNEAK THIEF

Four guns were stolen from the office of Dr. William E. Nelson at Tremont of Roxbury, according to police of the Roxbury Crossing station. The guns were taken by a sneak thief. A burglar who had robbed a number of apartments in the Roxbury and the Jamaica road area of Roxbury was being sought today following a description furnished by a resident of the building at 220 Jamaica road. At that apartment house the thief broke into the apartment of Dr. Nelson and stole several hundred dollars worth of silverware. Theft of $300 worth of silverware from a trunk in the home of Dr. Nelson was reported by the Matthews Express Co. of Northham. The express was being sent on Kingston. A second express thief was reported by Matthews Express of West Newton. Two boxes of golf clubs were taken from the truck on Federal st.

TWO FACE TRIAL IN KILEY DEATH

Two men charged with the first degree murder of James M. Kiley, passing film to a man attending during an attempted holdup, will go on trial before Judge Thomas J. Hammond and a jury in Middlesex Criminal Court April 11. Acting post Att. Frank G. Volpe announced today. They are James T. Garrick, 23, of Phillips st., West End, and Edward Connel, 29, formerly of Somerville. Two other men alleged to have participated in the slaying are still at large, although sought for more than a year. Kiley, an attendant in a filling station in the Northern artery, in Somerville, was shot and almost instantly killed the night of April 3, 1931.

Woman Follows Sister in Death

Mrs. Margaret E. Keene, 84, of 22 Rockland ave., Malden, passed away 12 days after the death of her sister, a woman who had lived for many years. Mrs. Adelaide A. Crawford, 84, was due to a heart attack believed to have been brought about through the shock of her sister's death. Mrs. Keene is survived by two daughters and four grandchildren. She will be buried beside her sister.

AMERICA FACES FUTURE MORE HOPEFULLY By B. C. FORBES

AMERICA'S ATTITUDE towards the future is becoming less despairing. Until recently, most of the many communications addressed to this column were pessimistic, many lamenting the majority now reflect new hopefulness. Some business executives are musing over fresh energy. They are becoming disposed in new, increasing confidence. They are fighting for profitable response to increased sales efforts.

The second quarter may prove better than the admittedly disappointing first quarter.

At that, extremely important progress has been made since the year opened, notably in banking and monetary conditions, rather than in trade or industry. The stopping of bank failures, the reappearance of hoarded money, the easing of interest rates, the establishment of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the passage of the Glass-Steagall, but are achievements of basic importance. Betterment of financial conditions was a necessary preliminary to betterment of business conditions. The first has been accomplished. The second is in progress.

Better Days Ahead for Railroads

Would it be accounted crazy were I to predict that America's railroads, and American railway securities, have averted a crisis and will do better hereafter? Railway executives have effected far-reaching economies. The 10 per cent wage cut cannot fail to swell profits, which direly needed swelling. The rate increase is not to be overlooked. The government machinery for avertailing railway financial trouble is a favor of prime moment.

My guess is that railway net profits will improve, and that railway bonds and stocks will benefit.

Few Gains in Dividends

Dividend statistics compiled by this column reveal that stockholders are bearing their share of loss of income. During March there were only 13 improved dividend announcements, contrasted with 227 unfavorable announcements. First quarter comparisons follow:

FAVORABLE				UNFAVORABLE
1932	1931	1930	1929	1932	1931	1930	1929
January	48	117	172	158	January	144	153
February	31	107	117	126	February	141	131
March	43	80	141	176	March	227	235
	117	247	403	536		425	491

The writer ventures to predict that the first quarter of next year will produce less discouraging comparisons.

I hear of a large number of companies that are in a position to improve their dividend policy, but for various reasons they said short.

SPECTATOR

Says:

The market is following a crazy pattern. Stocks are stilled and telephones are loaning at record premiums, which normally would indicate a high stock interest "out on the limb." The rally in the railroads suggests possibility of some sort of an upturn, but there is little to base this on and the sidelines are the only place.

Atchison

Atchison was in Atchison was accompanied by rumors questioning the safety of the M. & St. L.

The headline statement was that the stock was to be sold at $10.50. The stock was to be sold at $10.50. The stock was to be sold at $10.50.

Depressing thing is that Wall Street threw up the specter when the stock transfer in the street was to be sold at $10.50.

Utilities

Large volume of bank and investment sources is obvious in the utilities. The reason is not far to find. All you have to do is look at the prices some of these bonds and stocks are selling at.

Yet there are strange reasons, like the fact that the stock market is selling at $10.50. The stock market is selling at $10.50. The stock market is selling at $10.50.

Stock prices still talk, and progress the stock market is selling at $10.50. The stock market is selling at $10.50. The stock market is selling at $10.50.

'Big' Steel Again In Large Supply

Pending hopes of further dividend on U. S. Steel common stock are being disappointed by the market.

WALL STREET

New York, April 1.—The stock market was extremely erratic today, with a series of short covering and heavy selling followed by a sharp rally. Record premiums commanded by such stocks as U. S. Steel, American Telephone and Western Union in the stock loan crowd brought an opening bulge. New regulations requiring customer consent for loaning stock went into effect today, and shorts were forced to bid for stock at the opening.

AUMON UPSETTING
A break of nearly 7 points in Auburn in the first 15 minutes, however, upset the first rally. Steel, Telephone and Western Union, the initial gains of a point, and the whole market showed a heavy tone.

Buying for the advance was resumed when the selling was out of the way and leading stocks ran up 2 to 2 points, with Telephone leading the way. Firms selling developed on the bulge, however, and a great part of the gains were lost.

General Motors was under heavy pressure, big blocks coming out at 13 1/2, the record low for the stock. Du Pont exhibited a new bear market low.

Rails were irregular, a break in Southern Pacific to a new bear market factor upset the group. Oil was steady. Anomalous reactions in the bear market low, depressing the metal shares.

BOND UNDERTONE FIRM
Bonds showed a firm undertone with Government obligations working higher. Railroad rallied sharply after an early dip. Wheat advanced.

Quiet and somewhat irregular trading prevailed in the bond division with the under tone firm. United States Government National debt, four consecutive days, bid little or no attention to the trend of domestic movements and most of the Liberator's Treasury advanced fractionally.

The railroad was in an uncertain state after its disclosure of performance in the previous session. The utilities, after a heavy loss in heavy German government bonds were in demand, higher prices were also the obligations of Argentina.

New York Central Lines will increase activities in repairs to equipment during April. Ford Motor car shops at West Albany, N. Y., Beach Road (Indianapolis), and at Allenton, Mass., will reopen April 4. Also locomotive shops at West Albany, N. Y., and at Allenton, Mass., will reopen April 4. Also locomotive shops at West Albany, N. Y., and at Allenton, Mass., will reopen April 4.

Springfield, Mass., will reopen April 4. Also locomotive shops at West Albany, N. Y., and at Allenton, Mass., will reopen April 4. Also locomotive shops at West Albany, N. Y., and at Allenton, Mass., will reopen April 4.

Approximately 7000 Ford Motor cars with awarded contracts for metal equipment, including cars and trucks, will be turned over to the Government by the Ford Motor Co. of Youngstown, as a result of which the latter company will advance operations liberally at its plant here. BIG HOOKUP FOR FORBES' TALK

New York, April 3.—Powerful short-wave stations will be hooked up with the network over which Mr. Forbes speaks tomorrow night, so business men abroad may listen in as the famous financial authority talks on "What Lies Ahead?" Mr. Forbes will speak through the facilities of the National Broadcasting Company from 7:45 to 8 p. m. E. S. T. His address will originate with station WJZ, New York, and be carried through the New York and supplementary hookups from coast to coast.

Mr. Forbes, writer of the most widely-published newspaper financial column in the country, has been making a survey of key industries and interviewing financial and industrial leaders in preparation for the broadcast.

The National Broadcasting Company announces a second broadcast on the subject of America's immediate economic future, to be made by another noted financial writer, Mervyn Stanley Rucker, Saturday, April 23, at 7:45 p. m. through the WJZ-Blue Network. Mr. Rucker is financial writer for United Service.

Charles S. O'Connor to Address Knights

Charles S. O'Connor, former chairman of the Boston school committee, will appear at the annual communion breakfast of the Knights of Columbus, K. of C. of Newport, on Sunday.

The committee includes Rep. John E. Murray of Newport, Councilor Rev. William J. Murphy of St. Ignace, Rev. Carl N. Thompson, John D. Murphy, William J. Murphy, John T. McCarthy and Rep. John F. Murphy.

Medford to Give Up Traffic Robots

Medford's traffic robots, the first to be installed in the State, are to be discontinued by Mayor John P. Burke, and manual controlled traffic lights are to be substituted. The lights are in Medford, where five streets are, have been the cause of much complaint.

Mayor Burke believes that a complete reworking will be made. The new plan calls for a traffic light in Medford. The lights there will be coordinated with lights at Myrtle Valley parkway and Main st.
